SUPT. RESIGNED.

Prof. Cosgrove Leaves the

Perryburg Schools—

Prof. Haylor

Elected.

Prof. Cosgrove after three and a half years' work in our public schools, deciding to engage in other business, tendered his resignation to the Board of Education, to take effect the first of January. The Board accepted the resignation at their meeting last Saturday night and elected Prof. D. A. Haylor of B. G., to fill the vacancy.

Prof. Cosgrove has done good work in our schools and will leave the service here with the best wishes of all for success in the future in whatever line of business he may engage. The professor and his family have made many friends in this locality.

Prof. Haylor, the newly elected Superintendent, is well known here, as he spent several years in our town as Superintendent of the schools and was regarded as a very able educator, and it is believed his election will have the approval of all those interested in the schools.

THE POOR MAN'S LIGHT.

Have you noticed Dr. Winfield's new light in his office and residence? It costs much less to run than a coal oil lamp and renders the room brilliantly luminous. Insurance companies accept of it as it is safe. No odor, costs about the same as a paraffin lamp. It is just the light for people away from electric lighting company. Call at my office or house to see them.

WHO IS THE ELDEST

A number of Perryburg people have been endeavoring to ascertain who, of our citizens is the eldest person born and still living in the village.

It is said that Henry Crane, born in 1836, is entitled to the honor, but there may be others and the JOURNAL would be pleased to receive information on the subject.

MISSED FIRE

And Johnathan Duhammel Was

Badly Scared but not

Killed.

A few evenings since Johnathan Duhammel thought he heard burglars in the house. He got up to investigate. His son heard a noise and he got up to investigate also.

Son had a revolver with three chambers loaded and two empty.

Son saw his father prowling around the room looking for the burglar, but it was very dark, and the son thought his father was the burglar so he raised the gun and pulled the trigger, but Johnathan had seen the new moon over his right shoulder and the gun missed fire by the hammer striking upon one of the empty chambers.

Mr. Duhammel says it didn't take him long to inform his son that he was himself and not a bold bad burglar, and that the son should cease hostilities, which he immediately did, and last Thursday they slaughtered turkey and were truly thankful the gun wasn't loaded.

Tortured A Witness.

Intense suffering was endured by witness T. L. Martin, of Dixie, Ky., before he gave this evidence: "I coughed every night until my throat was nearly raw; then tried Dr. King's New Discovery which gave instant relief. I have used it in my family for four years and recommend it as the greatest remedy for Coughs, Colds and all Throat, Chest and Lung troubles. It will stop the worst cough, and not only prevents but absolutely cures Consumption. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at all Druggists.

Maude H. Adams of Dayton, O., writes:

Gentlemen:—The requirements of the last society season, with late hours, promiscuous eating and irregular habits left me a physical wreck. Sick Headaches, Indigestion and a sluggish condition of the organs were my daily torment until I tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Yours is truly a household remedy with us.

Gratefully yours,

MAUDE H. ADAMS.

RUST RESISTANCE

Not to be Obtained Among Ordinary

Bread Wheats.

In 1894 the Department of Agriculture began experiments on an extensive scale to test the comparative rust resistance of different varieties of wheat. It became apparent that constant rust resistance is not to be obtained among the ordinary bread wheats known at present, though on an average a few such varieties are fairly resistant during a long period of years and it was rendered highly probable that this quality must be bred into a variety either by rigid selection of the most resistant individuals of that variety or by crossing with resistant varieties of other wheat groups and selecting from the resultant progeny such types as combine in the highest degree the usual qualities of the bread-wheat group with that of rust resistance.

SPECIAL ELECTION

For a New Jail Building to be held

December 18.

The question of holding a special election for the purpose of having the people say if they desire a new jail to be built was up before the Commissioners and Auditor at Monday's session.

After consulting the recently amended special election law they concluded that its provisions prescribed that this election must be handled entirely by the county commissioners and auditor and acted accordingly. The election is set for Tuesday, Dec. 18, and the commissioners and Auditor Harding have set about looking after the details of the new job on their hands.

A Woman's Awful Peril.

"There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation" were the startling words heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lima Ridge, Wis., from her doctor after he had vainly tried to cure her of a trifling case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stones had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use Electric Bitters which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney remedy. Cures Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite. Try it. Only 50c. Guaranteed. For sale by all Druggists.

THOSE KANSAS PEOPLE

Have Some Very Queer Notions

Concerning Oil.

A Kansas paper gives a new reason why people become thin. Here is his explanation:

"Noedasha, Kan., has a population of about 1500, which includes more thin people than any place twice its size in America. Many men weigh less than 100 pounds, though in excellent health. Physicians say that petroleum and gas wells are responsible for making the people look like frightened refugees from famine stricken India.

If that Kansas Editor would come to Wood county he would change his opinion. The oil men here are the fattest, healthiest men to be found anywhere.

How to Cure Croup.

Mr. R. Gray, who lives near Amenia, Dutchess county, N. Y., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine children's remedy for croup and never fails to cure." When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as these symptoms appear. For sale by C. P. Champney, Druggist.

WATTS IN LUCK.

He Strikes a Big Well in the Haskins

Field.

J. G. Watts of Haskins has struck a well that will probably make him some money.

He drilled in a well on the Coen property a mile east of Haskins and on Friday last the tools went into a crevice and the well began to flow at once.

It started off at a thirty barrel an hour rate and is still doing better than ten barrels an hour.

The oil flows through the casing and comes with enough force to shove it into tanks of the pipe line company 800 feet distant.

Arrangements are being made by those on adjoining leases to put down holes to offset this possibility.

This territory in the past has not been considered very heavy and the well was somewhat of a surprise.

Everybody is glad that Mr. Watts struck it as things have been coming a little bad for him lately in the way of dry holes.

Pneumonia Prevented.

Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and in grippe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Those who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and in grippe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia.

Thos. Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for in grippe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of a grippe to result in pneumonia." For sale by C. P. Champney, Druggist.

ANOTHER CHAPTER

In the Peters-Harrison-Close Illegal Arrest Scrimmage.

Readers of the JOURNAL will remember that Mrs. Amanda Peters was arrested and placed in jail for refusing to pay Attorney Harrison's fees. Mrs. Peters her father John Bartz and his wife each entered suit against S. P. Harrison and Marshal Close of Portage for alleged illegal arrest, asking that $5000 be given each of them for such alleged false arrest and the injury done by the same.

Marshal Close has filed his answers to the petitions brought against him in conjunction with Harrison and denies every allegation made by them except that he is the marshal of Portage.

HASKINS BOOZE.

Another Chapter in the Liquor

Cases in Middleton Twp.

Of course Haskins is a dry town because the people voted that it should be so, but from the numerous scraps, (legal and illegal) there must be a booze joint somewhere in the town.

The case of Emery R. Stacy vs. The Village of Haskins was called in common pleas court Wednesday, and the mayor of Haskins was ordered to transmit a true and full record of the proceedings of that court. This case arose over the alleged illegal sale of liquor at Haskins and is but one instance of several that have already come up.

Our readers will remember that Mayor Bridges was arrested for alleged forgery but was immediately discharged by the court, and the war goes merrily on. It seems that booze comes high in Haskins but it continues to come just the same.

"About five years ago I was troubled with catarrh of the lower bowel," says C. T. Chisholm, 484 Dearborn ave. Chicago, and although I consulted several eminent physicians who prescribed for me, I found their remedies failed to in any way relieve me, and the trouble almost became chronic. After suffering several months, I one day concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I beg to assure you that I was most agreeably surprised to find after taking two doses of the remedy that I had cost me so much trouble and annoyance. I am thankful to say that I have not suffered from it since." For sale by C. P. Champney, Druggist.

TOLEDO AMUSEMENTS.

The Story of "The Night Before

Christmas."

The story of "The Night Before Christmas," the beautiful pastoral drama which comes to the Lyceum theatre for 4 days and 4 matinees beginning Sunday Dec. 16, is a most unique one and the author has furnished the magnificent cast producing this play every opportunity for intense dramatic action. The story opens in a country farm house where John Phillips, Jr. the drunken son of Judge Phillips, has been sent to reform. He has been at this farm house for almost a year and though surrounded by the benign influence of his Quaker grandmother he has failed to effect the reformation desired.

The story opens on the Night Before Christmas and his father, the Judge, is expected home to attend the wedding of a friend. When the Judge and his wife arrive, there is general rejoicing in the neighborhood, for he is held in high esteem by the citizens of the community. Jack, the son, greets him and is reprimanded for his bad habits and tells his father that there is one way he can reform. That is by his being allowed to marry Marion Williams, the belle of the neighborhood with whom he is greatly in love. The Judge forbids this marriage on the grounds that there is a cloud over the girl's birth and, while they are talking Marion Williams herself appears at the door and hears the conversation about her. She meekly submits to the caustic criticism of the father and the boy, when she starts home, against his father's wishes goes with her. The father is angered at the action of his son but his feelings are swallowed up in the greetings given him by his old friends and neighbors and they all start for the wedding, while some of the party decide to go to the Governor's church to help with the Christmas decorations.

Jack and Marion return to the house and their conversation is interrupted by the appearance of Bud Means, the country "bully." He is in love with Marion also and when he finds Jack Phillips has won Marion's heart, he instantly recalls the cloud over her birth and for his impudence is knocked down by Jack. He swears vengeance. Jack and Marion go to the church where Marion assists with the decorations. As all the old folks are about to leave Bud Means appears again on the scene and finding Marion alone in the church, attempts to force from her a promise of marriage and failing in this, declares that he will make her unfit for any man's wife. Jack fortunately appears about this time and Bud is soundly thrashed outside the church. As he comes to senses Joe Miller, now a tramp, appears on the scene and recognizes Bud as the man who had induced his wife to leave home and whom afterwards Bud Means cruelly murdered. Joe has come to the old Governor's churchyard this night to visit his wife's grave and had sworn to kill the man who wrecked his home if he ever met him. He had picked up a knife which Jack had dropped while out cutting holly for the decorations and with this knife in hand, he recognizes the betrayer of his home, calls him to account and finally stabs him to death. Bud falls in the same spot where Jack had knocked him down and Marion Williams, standing in the church door, dimly sees the murder. She screams and faints and Jack rushes out and bending over the body of Bud Means, declares that he has killed him. Joe Miller has escaped without being recognized. Jack is arranged for the murder. In an unparalleled court-room scene, in which his father is compelled to try the son for murder, Jack is convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted. Joe Miller perjures himself and declares that Jack is the murderer and the third act closes by the father sentencing his own son.

In the meantime Judge Phillips is elected Governor of the state and the question of pardon for the son is argued pro and con by both the attorneys in the case and the friends and enemies of the accused, but the Governor, with his high sense of honor, after the Supreme court has failed to reverse the decision, refuses to interfere in the case.

At Burt's Theatre.

The plot of At Piney Ridge, which opened at Burt's on Thursday, is not at all intricate. It involves the charge of negro blood in the veins of a man supposedly white, the breaking of his social relations and the refusal of his betrothed's father to permit his marriage, and the young man in clearing himself of the accusation. The play is rich in new and powerful incident, and the producing company one of decided merit. The scenery and electrical effects are novel and beautiful.

Prices—Mat., 10, 15, 25. Eve., 10, 20, 30, 50.

At the Lyceum.

In some of his oriental illusions, as given this season, by Magician Keller, he shows how it is possible to send a young lady through the air in the theatre, in full light, so quickly that no one can see her go. He accomplishes this in the following matter: Two wooden cages with slatted sides and doors are shown, one on the stage and one suspended ten feet in the air. The young woman is locked in the lower one and at the magical word of command is gone. She is seen tripping lightly down the aisles of the theatre from the rear of the stage but how she got there no one can fathom. She is again imprisoned and a second time as mysteriously and instantaneously disappears. This time the upper cage is unlocked, and there is the girl smiling prettily whilst in the cage on the floor is a six foot soldier in full regiments. This is but one of a dozen full stage illusions that will be given when Magician Keller comes to the city. He will be at the Lyceum for three days opening Thursday Dec. 6.

Prices—Evenings, 15, 25, 35, 50 and 75c. Matinee, 15 and 25c.
